2008 THE INTERNATIONAL YEAR OF LANGUAGES. “Languages, with their complex implications for identity, communication, social integration, education and development, are of strategic importance for people and the planet. When languages fade, so does the world's rich tapestry of cultural diversity. Opportunities, traditions, memory, unique modes of thinking and expression – valuable resources for ensuring a better future are also lost.” (<http://www.languages2008.org.au/>) Languages are indeed the pillar of cultural diversity. International Mother Language Day, celebrated on 21 February every year since 2000, has marked 2008 the start of the International Year of Languages proclaimed by the General Assembly of UNESCO. The Languages Faculty in our School is committed to pursue language learning as a means of promoting, protecting and preserving diversity of languages and cultures globally. As from this week, a challenge is put forth from time to time in the bulletin and winners can claim their prizes from Ms Morien. This week's challenge: “Languages Matter!” – Rewrite this slogan in Chinese, French or Indonesian with a sentence in the same language of why you think languages matter in our everyday living. The best answer in each of the three languages wins a prize. Please submit your entry to your language teacher by Monday 3.30pm.
